Instructions to Authors

Original papers concerned with all fields of physiology, pharmacology, anatomy, and biochemistry from laboratory and clinical research and written in English are considered for publication in the Chinese Journal of Physiology. Send the cover letter and original manuscript to the Editor-in-Chief via E-mail (pswang@ym.edu.tw). The Chinese Journal of Physiology also welcomes the author to send original and two copies of each manuscript, including all illustrative materials and a CD, to:

Dr. Paulus S. Wang, Department of Physiology, National Yang-Ming University, Taipei 112, Taiwan, Republic of China

To facilitate editorial processing, the following points with regard to the preparation of manuscript should be noted.

1. Manuscripts of any length are admissible. Manuscripts must be typewritten and double-spaced with margins on one side of paper. Pages should be numbered in lower right-hand corner.

2. The manuscripts should be arranged in the following order: title page, abstract, key words, introduction, materials and methods, results, discussion, acknowledgments, references, tables, figure legends, and illustrations.

3. The title page should contain the complete article title, a running page headline (short title) not to exceed 50 characters, the name of Institute where the work was done.

4. References cited in the text should be by Arabic numerals in parenthesis and not by the names of the authors. The references list should be in alphabetical order and numbered consecutively.

5. Abbreviations and symbols for units of measurement should conform to international recommendation.

6. Tables should be typed on separate sheets, be numbered in Arabic numerals and be accompanied by adequate headings. Explanatory matter should appear in foot notes that are identified by superscript letters or asterisks. Their appropriate position in the text should be indicated by a note in the margin.

7. Figures should be printed on glossy paper, be large enough for reproduction and be identified in pencil on the reverse side. Figure legends should be typed separately.

8. Color plates are at the expense of the author.

9. To expedite the review process, authors are encouraged to submit names including E-mail address of 4-6 suggested reviewers.

10. Manuscripts submitted as Short Communications should be concise and contain short technical notes, or preliminary experimental results. They should not exceed a total of five printed pages and not include more than three illustrations. The abstract for a Short Communication should not exceed 200 words. The editors reserve the right to decide what constitutes a Short Communication. Review Articles are published usually upon invitation to outstanding scientists on special topics.

11. Case report should contain abstract, introduction, case report, discussion, (acknowledgment), references, tables, legends, and figures in sequence.

12. There is no page charge for papers. Reprints may be ordered.
